Explanation of Rule(s)	WAC 390-28-100 (1) Under RCW 29B.20.040, the commission or presiding officer may modify reporting requirements, including the statement of financial affairs, if literal application of the requirement would work a manifestly unreasonable hardship and the suspension or modification would not frustrate the purpose of the law. One or more of the following may be considered by the commission or presiding officer as possible qualifications for a reporting modification with respect to the statement of financial affairs, when such standard is met: (b) Income and ownership interests. An applicant may be exempted from reporting the information otherwise required by RCW 29B.55.030(1)(f) and (g), if: (i) Public disclosure would violate any legally recognized confidential relationship that serves a legitimate business interest; (ii) The information does not relate to a business entity which would be subject to the regulatory authority of the office sought or held by the applicant in whole or in part; (iii) Such reporting would present a manifestly unreasonable hardship to the applicant including but not limited to adversely affecting the competitive position of an entity in which the applicant had an interest of ten percent or more as described in RCW 29B.20.040; and (iv) The interest in question would present no actual or potential conflict with the performance of the duties of the office sought or held.

Supporting Documents (attached)	☒ Current F-1 (Filed May 3, 2026) ☒ Modification Application
Reason(s) for Modification (as stated by filer)	• Joshua Harris is requesting a partial reporting modification that would exempt him from disclosing reportable business customers related to his business relationship with Cascadia Global Security, Inc. on his Personal Financial Affairs Statement (F-1 report) covering the previous twelve months. • Cascadia Global Security, Inc. which has approximately $20 million in annual sales, 200+ business accounts, only two clients in Washington State, with the rest being in Texas, Illinois, Georgia, South Carolina, Oklahoma, and others. • Mr. Harris states that he no longer owns the company as of March 2026, it no longer operates as a separate entity; its assets, contracts, and operations were sold in full. He no longer owns or controls the business and no longer has access to a complete customer list, and many customer relationships are subject to NDAs and other confidentiality obligations. Disclosure would therefore create a manifestly unreasonable hardship by forcing publication of confidential commercial information relating to a business no longer owned by him, causing competitive harm to the buyer and successor operation, and requiring disclosure of a large volume of customer information that is burdensome to compile and has limited relevance to the judicial office he seeks.
Other Issues	• Mr. Harris has agreed to recuse himself if a matter came before him involving a conflict of interest between his personal interests in • Cascadia Global Security, Inc. and the duties of his office with the King County District Court, Southeast Electoral District. • If the Commission believes some modified disclosure is necessary, Mr. Harris is willing to provide narrower disclosure that protects confidentiality while still serving the purposes of the Act.
